

Hogs will stand odd at times and the legs will appear crooked. Watching over time while standing and while walking will allow you to determine the correctness of the legs. The legs should be strong, thick, and straight when standing or walking normally. This hogs front legs bow inward. Crooked legs at some point will cause the hog to break down from its own body weight or from breeding. This can sometimes be an inherited factor.